Noida: As more Indians eye overseas jobs and govt recruits through official channels for countries like Israel and for fields like construction work, training for specific markets has become more important than ever before.

Against this backdrop comes a training centre that will focus on driving up the employability quotient of Indians. Set up by National Skill Development Corporation (NSDC) in Greater Noida — its first international academy that will focus on overseas jobs — it was inaugurated on Thursday by Union minister Jayant Chaudhary.

The NSDC International Academy, officials said, will provide specialised training on skills aligned to global job markets. Among its programmes will be courses in foreign languages (German, Japanese, and English), besides healthcare, employability skills and aviation. During the inauguration, the minister interacted with students and visited the academy's labs. Eleven of the NSDC trainees are ready to travel to Germany for jobs, officials said. "We must recognise that young India is breaking barriers, moving beyond traditional career paths, and looking at new opportunities. The NSDC International Academy is a testament to this shift, equipping our youth with the skills, confidence, and global exposure they need to succeed," Chaudhary said.

"With our skilling budget increasing from Rs 3,300 crore to Rs 6,100 crore, we are strengthening initiatives like this academy ensuring young Indians get industry-relevant training, language skills, and cultural readiness. A Vixit Bharat by 2047 will be built by individuals ready to take on global challenges, and our job is to make sure they have the right support to get there," Chaudhary added. The NSDC academy will offer language certifications like OSD and Goethe (German), JLPT (Japanese), and IELTS (English).

NSDC CEO Ved Mani Tiwari said, "The World Economic Forum report says that in the next 25 years, 100 crore people will join the global workforce, with every third and fourth person being Indian. The coming years will ensure that India plays a dominant role in the global economy and contributes significantly to the dollar economy. Our initiatives at this centre equip youths with world-class language proficiency and advanced technical skills, preparing them for careers in Germany, Japan, Israel and the UK."

The new academy features 20 classrooms and training labs, besides career counselling and psychological support services. It also includes residential facilities for up to 500 candidates. With a target of training over 1,000 candidates annually, officials said the academy aims to support job placements through partnerships with international employers and industry leaders.
